Inside the Singapore Islamic Hub

Thursday 1 July 2010, 12 noon-2:30pm
Singapore Islamic Hub (SIH)
273 Braddell Road (two buildings away from SPH)
Singapore 579702

The Singapore Islamic Hub celebrates the first anniversary of its new premises on 11 July – an architectural award-winning complex comprising the MUIS headquarters (including the Syariah Appeals Court), Muhajirin Mosque and Madrasah Al-Irsyad Al-Islamiah. July also marks the National Orange Ribbon Campaign which promotes racial and religious harmony, while local schools commemorate Racial Harmony Day on 21 July.

In this spirit, join us for a rare tour of the Singapore Islamic Hub and find out how MUIS oversees the many, varied interests of Singapore's Muslim community. Learn how fatwas or religious rulings are decided, why non-Muslims outnumber Muslims at halal certification courses these days, how over $350m worth of wakaf (endowment) properties are managed and what makes up the curriculum of Singapore's top Islamic religious school that has attracted some Indonesian madrasahs to adopt it. This event includes lunch hosted by MUIS.

Free admission to the first 20 members who register. No guests as places are extremely limited. Email secretariat@pressclub.org.sg with your name, membership no., organization and mobile phone no. by Tuesday 29 June 12 noon.
